Plans For Annual C of C Awards Meet Announced

Area Lawyers To Attend Law Sessions

Several local attorneys are planning to attend a two-day commercial law course to be held at the George Washington Hotel in West Palm Beach, tomorrow and Saturday.

The educational session is being presented by the Florida Bar to help familiarize lawyers and businessmen with the Florida Uniform Commercial Code which goes into effect on January 1, 1967. Special bar courses usually are restricted to lawyers only, but bar officials feel that an understanding of the new state code is vital to businessmen as well as attorneys.

Talks on bulk transfers and ways to prepare financial documents for filing with government offices will be presented. Frederick M. Hart, Boston College law professor, will lecture on the over-all impact of the code and on the legal aspects of sales under the code.

The West Palm Beach course is one of a series of bar meetings which will be held in eight Florida cities during September, October and November.

Planning to attend from this area are Robert E. Matthews, Jr., Edward F. Allen, John E. Baker, Claude Jones, Milton McKay, and Ralph Johnson.

"After a six-month probationary period," he continued, they will automatically be named to the permanent position of detective.

Library Project Nearing Completion

A year-long project, which means improved service for Belle Glade Library patrons, is nearing completion.

Mrs. Dorothy Jones, librarian at Belle Glade High School, was hired by the city last December to work in her free time at directing the Public Library's card catalog.

Helping her at the ambitious project have been Mrs. Bette Harvill, librarian, Mrs. Howard Burdine, assistant librarian; Russell Tenet, summer student assistant; and members of the city Library Board.

Board members are Mrs. Joseph Orsenigo, chairman; Mrs. Homer Hand, Mrs. Richard Shoemaker, Mrs. Curtis Thompson, Jr., Mrs. James Ball, Mrs. Herman Close, and Mrs. Theron Casselman.

The project has involved ordering sets of cards for all of the non-fiction in the collection. Heretofore, the only cards in the file have been typewritten author and title cards. These new sets include subject cards, often several for a single book.

The new subject cards are helping to take some of the work load from the library clerk.

On Tuesday night a schedule of employee salaries was adopted. The commissioner also approved the first reading of the budget and tax roll.

The 1966-67 budget was set at $148,580. Source of revenues will include police revenue $24,500, water department $81,700, real and personal property taxes $68,810. Balance of the budget funds are expected to come from licenses and fees.

The commissioners raised the millage from 8.5 to 13 mill for the coming year. Assessed valuation of property was set at $3,896,960.

The commissioners will meet again tonight for the final reading of the resolution fixing the budget and certifying the tax roll.

LeBron Williams Named Chairman Of Safety Unit

The Canal Hazards Safety Committee was reactivated and officers elected Monday at a luncheon meeting held at the new Dixiana Grill. It was the first meeting of the group since the death of its founder, Henry O. Earwood who died April 17.

George LeBron Williams, local funeral director and city commissioner, was elected chairman of the group. Other officers include Pelton Morris, principal of Belle Glade High School, vice chairman, and Rupert Mock, Pahokee banker, secretary.

Erection of barriers along the area canals was the primary objective of the safety committee. This project has already been started. Another project being pushed by the committee is the construction of a four-lane highway from Belle Glade to West Palm Beach.

A second meeting of the committee will be held on Tuesday, October 4, when the group will discuss projects for the future. Tuesday's session will be held at the new Dixiana also.

At present the committee is made up of nine members. The membership for the group is expected to be enlarged to about 18 or 20 members with representatives from communities throughout the area.

The group agreed Monday to authorize Robert E. Matthews Jr., local attorney, to draw up by-laws for the organization.

The original committee was formed by the late Mr. Earwood for the purpose of promoting highway safety. Mr. Earwood was named "Man of the Year" by the local chamber of Commerce.

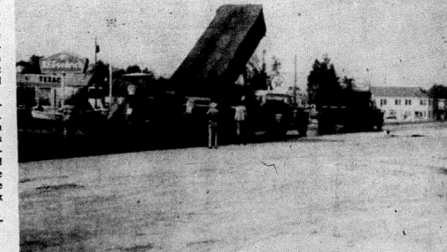

Acting as temporary secretary for the committee was Mrs. Violet Felsing, Chamber of Commerce executive secretary.

Beautification Committee Set

Dates for nominations and election of officers were set by the beautification committee of the Chamber of Commerce, according to Dr. Don Fiehs, chairman.

Nominations will be made on next Thursday, October 6, during a meeting of the committee following the meeting of the chamber board of directors. Elections will be held two weeks later.

The City Improvement committee of the Lions Club will join the beautification committee in its work on the junk car problem, according to Dr. Fiehs. This project is underway.

FINISH TOPPING — Final topping is being given SR 715 as the resurfacing project for 13.95 miles of roadway between Belle Glade and Canal Point is nearing completion. Completion of the project being done by Weckley Paving Co., of Hallandale, at a cost of $214,402, is set for this week. Shoulders will be completed in two weeks. The contract calls for establishing shoulders along to correct the difference in height of pavement over existing shoulders.

CANAL SPANNED — Construction of a new and modern bridge across Hillsborough Canal at Eighth Street is nearing completion. Workers are shown above, as finishing touches are put on the job. Murphy Construction Company is the contractor and the structure which was started in April was built at a cost of $33,980.

Law Enforcement Taken For Granted

Law enforcement is expected and taken for granted as being in the line of duty of a police department. Community service carried out by department members in various ways often goes unrecognized.

The E. B. McDaniel family were particularly grateful to a Belle Glade Police officer who thoughtfully rendered them service in a time of distress Sunday, September 11.

Mr. and Mrs. McDaniel had accompanied their daughters to Howey Academy when a death message for them was received at the local police department. Sgt. Joe Kardiell, identification officer on duty, by thoughtful interest and quick action traced down the family's whereabouts and relayed the message of the death of Mr. McDaniel's sister, Mrs. Zack Daniels who died suddenly in Marianna.

Many hours of driving time, expense and inconvenience were saved by the sergeant's interest. The family went on to Marianna where they attended services before returning to Belle Glade.

Service beyond the line of duty, friendliness, personal interest, are but a few of the things we in a small community enjoy and appreciate.

A Salute To Our Youth

Today's youth are much in the news. However, the majority of the news pertains to juvenile delinquency, juvenile crime or other bad news about our young people. Of course, the very nature of news itself makes this necessary since news is events which are unusual. We hope that bad news will continue to be unusual rather than the commonplace.

However, only a small percentage of our youth are involved in undesirable or bad activities. Many find things are being done daily by our young people and these things go unnoticed.

Last week during one of the frequent showers experienced in Belle Glade recently, a young lady, presumably in her teens, called the Herald to inform this newspaper that a group of youngsters were cutting grass and clearing weeds. These youngsters continued their efforts despite the weather.

This is an example of the type of activities a majority of our youth take part in every day, yet oftentimes we never hear of these activities.

We take this opportunity of saluting these youngsters and many like them in Belle Glade and our nation. Our thanks also go to the young lady who called in to tell the Herald about the activity.

Views of Other Editors

MOUNT OLIVE, N. C. TRIBUNE: "... favoritism for labor bodes dangers even for the unions. With both the Administration and the National Labor Relations Board putting the interest of unions above that of the nation, the government may grow so big that it will sink itself—from disgust in its own members, and alienation of the public and its Congress. In our opinion, the President needs very much to show awareness that there are other people in the nation besides union leaders and 'civil rights' demonstrators."

WESTBY, WISC. TIMES: "Many businessmen are beginning to wonder if it wouldn't be a wise idea to have a guaranteed annual customer before they start getting too involved with a guaranteed annual wage."

GRANTS, N. M. BEACON: "A danger in the United States today is that demonstrations and intimidations will replace government by orderly, legal process. . . . There has been great progress by reliance on government by law and change by the due and legal process. Minorities in this country enjoy better living conditions and greater opportunities than anywhere else in the world. . . . All Americans have much to be thankful for, and all should avoid extreme actions or counteractions."

A TURNING POINT

The defeat of the Johnson administration's civil rights bill in the U. S. Senate properly may be regarded as a turning point in the political life of the United States. Since the 1950s, advocates of "civil rights" have only had to demand new legislation opening up privileges for a minority and the congress has jumped to obey. Only two years ago, former Sen. Barry Goldwater said he believed that the Civil Rights Act of 1964 was unconstitutional. He found himself in a political position of great loneliness. His candid, courageous stand on this question unquestionably contributed to his defeat in the presidential race.

But things have changed in two years. Indeed they have changed very much in the last four months. U. S. Sen Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.), the minority leader in the Senate, took an unshakable stand against the Civil Rights Act of 1966. He said that, in his judgment, the so-called open housing provision of the bill was unconstitutional. His stand against open housing proved decisive in settling the bill's fate in the Senate.

What is apparent is that Sen. Dirksen's stand was not only correct in terms of principle but politically wise — perhaps even necessary. The Illinois electorate is in a very different frame of mind from two years ago. Invasion of respectable white-collar and blue-collar neighborhoods in Chicago and other Illinois communities by bands of agitators calling for open housing has caused a revolution in that state. Illinois citizens are tired of harassment by exponents of "black power." They are sick of political leaders in clerical collars who use pious talk to cover up the building of a political machine. They have come to the point where they aren't going to take any more from the professional disturbers of the peace who incite violence while giving lip service to idealistic goals.

In other words, there is in Illinois and other Northern states what newspapermen have come to describe as a "white backlash." Suddenly, it has become a tremendous force in the public arena. Politicians who long have toadied to the "civil rights" leaders are aware of public resentment. This is why the Civil Rights Act did not get through the Senate.

It seems clear that the professional masterminds of the "Civil Rights" campaign have overplayed their hand. For more than a decade, they used divide and conquer tactics. They managed to persuade many people in the North and West that Southerners who objected to harassment were uniquely evil people. Southerners became hate objects and were the target of innumerable prejudiced analyses on television.

But the divide and conquer tactics aren't working these days. Northern and Western cities have had a big dose of the same medicine inflicted on Southern communities. They have learned that the marchers act as though they had a monopoly on civil rights. Northern judges have had sit-in on their doorstep. Northern mayors have been abused by street revolutionaries. Riots have spilled into the streets of Northern and Western cities in a campaign of terrorism. There has been, in short, a shock of recognition in the North and West — a great awakening. The full meaning of civil disobedience — of civil right protest — has come to these regions in the form of burned stores, attacks on police and firemen, and in a general reign of terror. It is not likely that the people of these regions will soon forget what they experienced in the long hot summer of 1966.

But an angry reaction isn't enough. There should be a follow-up in terms of a cool appraisal of the whole question of "civil rights." For example, there should be a general acknowledgment that no minority has a right to special privileges above and beyond those enjoyed by the majority. The country needs a new awareness of the danger to traditional freedoms inherent in a ruthless campaign to confer privilege on a few. It isn't enough to defeat an open housing provision. What is important is that the whole concept of the sanctity of private property be reasserted and buttressed anew in legislative form. In the long run, ways and means must be found to get into the federal bench judges who will uphold the rights of the majority — not simply those of a minority — and who will recognize that "civil rights" do not mean a license to riot and turn the country upside down to appease a cadre of professional agitators. Defeat of the Civil Rights Act of 1966 should be viewed chiefly as an opportunity to begin a fight to win back lost freedoms.

Uncle Dan From Doolie Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers at the store Saturday night was dealing in high finance and trying to keep everything in round figures.

Clem Webster of the Great Society was trying to balance the national budget. He reported he had saw where the Government had saved $11 million last year by buying less typewriters and not buying no more filing cabinets.

Ed Doolittle said he was mighty glad to hear the Democrats had found out they was more to economy drives than cutting out a few lights at the White House. He allowed as how, now that they was operating less typewriters and filling up less filing cabinets, they might cut down on hiring new Federal employees from the present rate of 675 a day to around the 500 mark.

Furthermore, reported Ed, he was in hopes the Neighborhood Youth Core, that has spent $250 million up to now to train 1,061 people, could cut the cost per graduate from the present $270,000 to maybe around $100,000 even. He said the Job Core folks has announced they had cut the cost per one trainee down from $13,000 to around $10,000 and this was mighty encouraging. He predicted that in another 10 year they would give it down to where it was as cheap to get a Job Core degree as to get one from Harvard.

And while the fellers was in the middle of trying to get the Federal budget trimmed down, Zeke Grubb's preacher come by to get some pipe smoking tobacco. He got to talking and reported his daughter was fixing to get off for college. The college had wrote him that the rising cost of everything has forced them to hike their fees another 10 per cent. He said he had took to worrying about how he was going to put that girl through college and got to smoking too much and now he's worrying one day about getting cancer and the next day about rating that 10 per cent.

Ed butted in to say that from the best he could recollect the $600 tax deduction the Government set up for ever child in 1939 was the only figger holding steady in Washington. He said the Government could spend $10,000 a year for each young'un in the Job Core, but the taxpayers that coughed up the money couldn't take but $600 off for educating their own children.

The good Parson allowed as how Ed had a good point there, claimed most country preachers was eligible for the poverty program anyhow and he was serious considering just letting the Government educate his daughter.

Personal, Mister Editor, if I was the Parson I'd put my wife in the Women's Job Core, my daughter in the Neighborhood Youth Core, get me one of them $100 a day "consultant" jobs and cut down on the smoking.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

Letters to the Editor...

Dear Editor:

As I am a subscriber to the Herald as you know and as a land and I think lot owner of Okeelanta, I subscribe to keep up with the activity in that area.

In 1911, my father bought this lot and land along with about 100 others as a business venture. Many of these people's children still own this land and lots, they think, paying taxes on them all these years.

Many of these people are elderly and some are blind. There is a monkey story in today's Herald. Let me add one more question to this article. Would a monkey take possession of something that belonged to an elderly and blind monkey? Would they drive another monkey out of its possessions?

We are not monkeys, of course, and our ancestors did not swing from a limb by their tail, but some of us seem to have desires to act worse than monkeys in many ways. I have been to Florida many times and not too long ago I found many good and honest people there. Then I found some who I felt were far from that description.

I will return to Belle Glade and Clewiston before long and do hope to meet new friends I made while there, and hope to find others.

I enjoy Uncle Dan's sayings and your editorials.

Regards,
B. F. Burrows

Dear Editor:

As I promised, I am writing you what I think of the Job Corps. The Job Corps is a chance of a life time for boys or girls who quit school. You finish school and they help you make up your mind on what kind of trade you want. And I think the job Corps is the best thing that ever happened. They pay you while you learn.

They let me go into town on Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday. And once a month they give a boy a 72-hour pass. That is, the one who keeps his room the cleanest.

Every six months they let you come home for a couple of weeks, and they let you come home for Christmas. That is about all, except the job Corps is the best thing that has ever happened to me.

Yours truly,
Steve Mull
P. S. I already know the trade I want. That is welding. There are three boys, to a room, in room mates are Billy Dutton and Lane Powers. Both of them are from Florida.

Cuban Refugee Program, CWS' 20th Anniversary Highlights NCC Assembly

Church leaders from all parts of the nation will get a first-hand view of their church's dramatic ministry to homeless political refugees as they meet here Dec. 4-9 for the triennial General Assembly of the National Council of Churches.

Miami has for six years been the U. S. arrival point for 186,000 Cuban refugees. The concerted efforts of government, churches, and secular agencies have thus far found homes and jobs in communities throughout this country for some 100,000 of these displaced persons.

The National Council's Department of Church World Service is the agency acting for Protestant, Anglican and Eastern Orthodox churches in this humanitarian program.

CWS has been the internationally respected relief agency of America's Protestant churches since 1946. In 1950 it was one of twelve interdenominational organizations which merged to form the NCC.

The Council's forthcoming General Assembly will highlight the Cuban refugee resettlement program together with CWS' 20th anniversary year—during which cooperating churches topped the four-billion pound mark in food and other material relief sent to the hungry, ill and homeless of 50 countries and hardship areas throughout the world.

In 1965 alone more than 227 million pounds of relief supplies reached their destinations through CWS channels. But even this vast bulk, valued at $26 million, falls far short of representing the churches' total work in overseas relief.

More important is the long-range goal of putting people back on their feet economically. The Cuban refugee program illustrates this most graphically. CWS has been instrumental in organizing follow-up programs to the year-old airlift from Havana to Miami.

In fact, the airlift became a reality only after religious agencies (CWS, HIAS, and Catholic Relief Services) undertook to receive, screen and place refugees in communities where they can be self-supporting without becoming a burden to the area.

Fr. Thompson's Trip to Europe

This was the first time I had visited Europe in the late summer and I had planned to make a number of short stops in various cities and finally to stay for about a week somewhere on the Atlantic. When I arrived in England I was greeted by the most perfect weather and a display of flowers and greenery that I had never seen before anywhere.

This changed my mind and I ended up spending my entire visit in London and Cardiff, except for four days in Madrid.

During my time in Britain I stayed in comfort. My great concern was over the masses of Englishmen who must spend the same money for the same food we buy and whose income is half or less of ours.

A two room flat in Kensington costs some $45 a week and is not air conditioned and does not have what we call central heat. With all of this I had to admit that I have great admiration for the English; they are a strong and admirable people, thinking much more of the needs of the world than of themselves. In London, $150.

In Cardiff, the house again joined a great expanse of park which runs through the city and leads several miles away to the ninth century cathedral.

Worldwide Communion Observance Sunday

October 2 brings Christians to a Communion table "25,000 miles long." With imagination one can envision the millions of Christ's followers kneeling together, sharing in the bread and the cup.

No wall or curtain can separate the worshippers on this day. All, of every race and persuasion, observe the Lord's command, "Do this in remembrance of me." Communion Sunday is the day when all Christians join in the observance of Worldwide Communion Sunday.

Historically an offering is received as a part of each person's dedication to the Communion Service. For Methodists this is the offering for the Fellowship of Suffering and Service which helps put our faith into action.

One-half goes to the Methodist Committee for Overseas, the other half to the local church.

Worship

"Make love your aim, and earnestly desire the spiritual gifts, especially that you may prophesy."

— I Corinthians 14:1

Worship—whenever and wherever you choose. But remember that it is the center of all things. Prayer is a pipeline. It is a method of communication. A prayer may bring you peace of mind and offer you the promise of hope. Strive to fill your heart with love. If you love God enough, then you can love others. You can learn to forgive. You can learn tolerance. You can love despite faults and not merely because of gifts and favors.

Countians Losing Money

Many Palm Beach countians are losing money each month, according to R. C. Gehrewen, Jr., Social Security District Manager. Most of these people are not aware of their loss because they do not know about Social Security retirement benefits.

Many people in Palm Beach County continue working after they reach retirement age. They believe they cannot work and draw any social security benefits. Gehrewen explained that this is not always true. It is possible to earn more than $1500 per year, and still receive several hundred dollars in benefits in many cases. No one who is at retirement age should assume that he cannot receive any social security benefits because he is working. Each person should get in touch with the Social Security Office for information in his own case when he is near retirement age. Retirement age begins at age 60 for widows and at age 62 for other workers.

The Social Security office is located at 715 S. Dixie West Palm Beach, and is open from 8:30 to 4:30 and until 8:30 on Thursday night.

Drowning Rate In Florida Higher Than US

JACKSONVILLE — Florida's beautiful ocean fronts, rivers and lakes take a yearly toll of two-and-a-half times the U. S. rate in drownings. There were 462 in 1965, a survey by the State Board of Health showed today — 8 per 100,000 population. The figure was slightly above the average of 433 deaths during 1960-65.

Florida's rate varies slightly each year while the U. S. rate has remained almost stable for a number of years.

Drowning rates for males of both races far exceed the rates for females. The overall rate by age groups varies but for 1955, 1960 and 1965 the great number of drownings occurred in the 0-4 and 15-24 age groups.

Since 1960 there have been 68 deaths attributed to skin and scuba diving. Fifty-three per cent of these were among persons aged 15 to 24. Dade and Volusia counties had six deaths each for the 1960-65 period; Gilchrist and Suwannee five each.

The board's Bureau of Vital Statistics began a tally of home swimming pool drowning in 1963. That year there were 23 with 27 in 1964 and 26 last year. Broward, Dade and Palm Beach accounted for 70 per cent of pool deaths during those years.

Mrs. Pugh Name New City Clerk At South Bay

At a special session of the South Bay City Commission, Mrs. Peggy Pugh was named city clerk to replace Herbert A. Craig, who resigned effective last Friday.

Mrs. Pugh is the wife of acting Police Chief D. Ray Pugh. The family which includes two small children moved here from Starkville, Miss. about two years ago. At that time Mr. Pugh was hired as a patrolman by former Chief Andy Andrews.

Mrs. Faye Tillman, who has been employed in the clerk's office will continue as Mrs. Pugh's assistant. There were no plans for getting someone to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Mrs. Pugh.

Mayor-Commissioner Marvin Davis called a special meeting after a budget study session and it was learned a clerk should be hired at once. There was only one dissenting vote cast, that was made by new commissioner Neal Mayo who explained he was not too familiar with the qualifications of either of the office workers since he had just taken office himself. Commissioner Woody O'Neal made the motion to name Mrs. Pugh and Commissioner Norman R. Austin seconded the motion.

Auditors have been meeting with the Commission this past week in an attempt to get the new budget ready for the coming year. Meetings have been called for this week again in order to have the budget ready for the new year which begins Oct. 1, which is also the time of the regular Commission meeting.

Good Fishing Aheads, Says Commission

TALLAHASSEE — Indian Summer is here and it is a prime time to wet a line and sample some of Florida's finest fishing. The Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission reminds anglers that some of the best fishing of the year is less than a calendar page away.

"Autumn and early winter are comparable to spring insofar as fishing is concerned," Commission chairman W. B. Copeland points out. "Unfortunately, many sportsmen put away their tackle as soon as the first shooting season opens. As a result, they miss the opportunity to catch the lunkers that have been lying deep all through the summer heat."

Copeland pointed out that the cooler water of fall stimulates the fish and brings them out of mid-summer lethargy. Florida offers year-around fishing and the sportsman — or woman — can find added pleasure in their days outdoors by packing the fishing gear along on a hunting trip. A summary of hunting and fishing regulations and summary of wildlife and fish management area regulations and migratory bird regulations are available free from the office of all county judges and license agents, or by mail from the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

Dove Season Opens October 1

TALLAHASSEE — Thousands of Florida hunters will be at their favorite fields for the opening of the first phase dove hunting season on October 1. The season will open statewide, except for Alligator Point in Franklin County, and will continue through November 6.

Daily shooting hours are from 12 noon until sunset. Daily bag limit is twelve per day and hunters are required to have their guns plugged to a three shell capacity including the chamber.

The second phase dove hunting season is from November 19 through December 4. The third phase season opens December 17 and continues through January 2.

FFA Undertakes Big Things

The Future Farmers of America is an organization of boys interested in agriculture. Prospective members must have and maintain a minimum scholastic average. A boy must also have a productive enterprise or an approved placement program and be presently enrolled in Ag or have three years of Ag.

The main source of income for the club is its 42 acres of Sugar Cane. The club is a shareholder in Glades Sugar House. Other crops grown are cabbage, peanuts, okra, and corn; approximately 150 head of cattle are raised.

This year the FFA will be responsible for the painting of numbers on the parking lot spaces and the building of additional cement benches for the corridors. Other activities will include assembly programs, presentations of plays and joint activities with the Future Homemakers of America. Another project will be an improvement of the Ag fair; white rail fences will be put up.

Each year FFA enters exhibits in the Palm Beach County Fair. A judging team from the local club also goes.

Boys Attend Leadership Conference

The officers went to Avon Park on September 17, for a weekend conference on leadership training. The purpose of this trip was to learn how to become better leaders and how to improve the local chapter. State wide President Jerry Scarborough delivered some of the speeches. The boys also attended a special class and learned how to improve their officers.

Participating in the leadership program were Don Campbell, President; Steve Butler, Vice President; Greg Roberts, Treasurer; Mike Miller, Secretary; Jimmy Sullivan, Sentinel; Jack Scott, Chaplain; and Paul Anderson, Reporter. Accompanying the officers were Mr. Sam Lovell and Mr. J. Tommen who have helped the officers get started and plan the year's program.

Honors Attained

Every year the club has a Parliamentary Procedure team made up of six members. Many honors have been attained in the past.

Lions Club Furnishes Robes For Singers

The Glee Club will be dressed in new blue and gold choir robes this year. The new outfits were given by the Lions Club of Belle Glade.

Under the direction of Mrs. D. A. Flieth they will perform the annual Christmas, Spring, and Easter concerts. Future plans are being made for an Amateur Hour in which all students at B. G. H. S. will be able to participate.

The officers for the club are, Linda Lee, President; Sherry McGee, Vice-President; Sharon Walls, Secretary-Treasurer; Ann Thompson and Marion Sullivan, Librarians; Vicki Brantly and Alice Halbrook, Robe Chairmen; Jeanette Burnett, Historian; Marilyn Stokes and Sharon Walls, Assistant Directors; Marion Sullivan and Sharon Walls, Accompanists; Marie Snow and Jorgi Crews, Program Co-Chairmen. The section leaders are, Betty Allen, I Soprano; Donna Chaney, II Soprano; Melissa Bell, Alto.

Falcons Rout Rams

Last Friday night Forest Hill, in their opening game of the season, routed the Rams in a non-conference clash.

Appearing as though the jinx would not be broken, the Rams and Falcons were nose and nose during the first period of the game. Then, in the second quarter, the Falcons broke loose and ran 36 yards for the first score of the game.

After the half the Falcons returned only to intercept a Ram pass and scamper 38 yards for their second TD. Three minutes later Forest Hill scored again after receiving a BG fumble. This left the score at 19-0.

The tired but determined Rams then scored their only touchdown of the night. The score was made when Tommy Woods plunged the necessary one yard around right end. In a conversion play, Woods also kicked the extra point.

In the final quarter, the Falcons' passing proved too much for the tired Rams and they scored twice more, leaving the score at 32-7.

Know why Diazinon Is your most useful vegetable insecticide?

You can always rely on Diazinon insecticide to provide total protection against insects at lowest possible cost... whether you apply it to protect above-ground crops or below-ground crops.

Diazinon not only controls a wide range of both soil and foliage insects, but it is effective against a number of insects which have become resistant to other insecticides used for vegetables.

What's more, Diazinon knocks insects out fast and for keeps by contact and residual action. Unlike systemic insecticides, Diazinon does not have to be absorbed by the plant before effective insect control begins. It goes to work as soon as you apply it.

You can use Diazinon relatively close to harvest without creating a residue problem. There's little danger of exceeding tolerances on crops harvested for fresh market or processing. Just apply Diazinon as directed on the label.

No special protective clothing or devices are required when handling and applying Diazinon. However, when using pesticides you should always read and follow label directions.

Write us for your free copy of the Diazinon Handbook. It tells you how you can protect your crop best from both soil and foliage insects with one or more of the easy-to-use, economical Diazinon formulations—wettable powder, emulsifiable liquid, and granular.

Tommy Woods Saves Shut Out

Last Friday night, the Rams lost by a margin of 32-7 to the Forest Hill Falcons. The one touchdown of the Rams was made by Halfback Tommy Woods, who drove the final foot around right end to score a touchdown.

A senior this year, Woods has been playing with the Rams for three years. He's fast and is ready to run the minute the football reaches his hands. Last year, Woods managed some good passes and is also proving that same power this year.

This week, on Friday night, September 30, the Rams will be stampeding the Okeechobee Brahmins.

Alfred Meeks Holds 400 Championship Ribbons and Medals

One of the most unusual and interesting hobbies of any student is showing horses. Alfred Meeks, a junior, has shown horses throughout Florida.

He has been interested in horses for over nine years and within the last two years he has won over 360 ribbons, including eleven Grand Championship ribbons and 50 trophies.

Alfred now has 30 registered quarter horses which he intends to show in various horse shows. He buys his horses from horse sales in Florida, Oklahoma, Texas and other Western States. After having three months of riding lessons in Lake Worth, he began entering statewide horse shows. He also has had some of the leading horse trainers in Florida. Now, Alfred has Richard Bush, a horse trainer, come to his farm and train his horses.

Some of the events he has proved outstanding in are goal posts, and the football team will take the field through their tomorrow night.

Mrs. Earwood's art classes drew up the original copy for this project. Each Ram is eight feet high and will be painted gold.

The Pep Club sponsored the project.

Mrs. Earwood Tours Europe

Five hectic summer weeks were spent touring in Europe by Mrs. Earwood, accompanied by the W. C. Bamfords.

Mrs. Earwood divided her time among England, Belgium, Italy, Switzerland, France, Germany and Holland. She found the people extremely friendly except in France.

The cathedrals and art museums of Europe fascinated Mrs. Earwood. Several of the most interesting were the Rheims Cathedral, Notre Dame Cathedral, St. Peter's Cathedral, and Westminster Abbey.

England was a major attraction of the tour. The English countryside was considered the most beautiful by the travelers. Also, London proved to be the most captivating city.

Another place of great interest was the tour of the League of Nations in Geneva, Switzerland. Many international meetings are currently being held there. Mrs. Earwood also visited the Hague in the Netherlands.

Tourists will find many of the everyday luxuries of America missing in Europe. Drinking water must be bought by the bottle because of the unsanitary condition of the running water.

When arriving at a train station, there are no porters available. Seasoned travelers attach wheel carts to their luggage and move it themselves. Information is also hard to come by in a railroad station. The tourists must go to the Bureau of Information for any desired information.

The most unusual difference between Europe and America is in the bathroom accommodations. In France, males and females share one bathroom.

Because of the limited amount of time, Mrs. Earwood and the Bamfords did not get to see as much of Europe as they would have liked to see. They hope to return to Europe to tour southern England, Scotland, Ireland, and the Mediterranean area.

F. F. A. and F. H. A. Cook Out

A cookout was held Monday, Sept. 26, honoring all new members of F. F. A. and F. H. A. This was a "get-together" to acquaint old and new members. Chef was F. F. A. boys. The F. F. A. and F. H. A. are combining many of their programs this year.

Rams, Brahmins Lock Horns

Weight and the addition of a new football coach will be the advantages that Okeechobee will have over Belle Glade when the Brahmins and the Rams clash tomorrow night on the Rams home field. Although the Brahmins new coach will have new plays and strategy, Coach Burke feels that this should not hurt the Rams with their chances to win.

No changes in the lineup are planned by Coach Burke, and he plans to continue with the pass defense, which has proven successful in past games.

The Rams have been working on their mistakes from the previous games, and Coach Burke feels that with the improvements the Rams will give the fans an exciting game.

J. V.'s

Forest Hill Clash

The J. V. squad meets Forest Hill here tonight at 7:30 for the third game of the season. Looking good so far this year, the Forest Hill team promises to make an exciting match with Belle Glade.

The team will begin their attack under supervision of Coaches Bowers and Trego. Harry Hutto, kicker and Dick Hooker, guard both now eligible, will add greatly to the team effort. Also Ruben Ledons, who sustained a minor injury in the State game, will be ready to go.

Pep Club Sales Dolls

"Joggling Ram" may be purchased from the Pep Club for $1.25. He will be on sale for a short time only.

Victory Dance Follows Game

A victory dance will follow the Rams' clash with the Brahmins tomorrow night. It will be in the high school cafeteria, sponsored by the F. F. A.

The Eloys of Ft. Lauderdale will play.

The price of admission will be $7.50 stag and $1.00 drag.

Rams Charge Thru New Ram Posts

Charging Rams have been erected on either side of the goal posts, and the football team will take the field through their tomorrow night.

Mrs. Earwood's art classes drew up the original copy for this project. Each Ram is eight feet high and will be painted gold.

"MOLE DRAINING" of land is a common practice in the Glades but the method of doing it is not generally known. This picture gives an indication of the large tractor with tremendous power which is necessary to draw two "moles" through the soil at a depth of about two and one-half feet. The moles are usually about 8 inches in diameter mounted at the bottom of a thin but strong steel plate through which there is an air passage to prevent a vacuum from forming behind the mole. In Glades much the mole holes remain effective for about five years and facilitate both drainage and irrigation. This particular job was being done to drain a low place at the end of a sugar cane field. The mole is lowered into the drainage ditch from which it is pulled across the land to be drained.

Growers May Face Labor Shortage, FFVA Head Says

MIAMI BEACH — Florida growers may face farm labor shortages of unprecedented proportions during the 1966-67 season, the labor head of the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association discussed here during the organization's annual convention. W. H. Anderson, Jr., labor division and assistant general manager of FFVA, said "With all Southeastern states surveyed to determine the prospective interstate labor outlook, it appears that the number of workers from these sources will remain unchanged."

Anderson revealed that no assurance has been made that the U. S. Department of Labor's tight restrictions on supplemental foreign labor will be relaxed in citrus, tomatoes, celery, strawberries, sweet corn, and other crops with high labor requirements and "fleeting harvest opportunities."

The one crop assured of supplemental foreign workers in Florida is sugar cane, Anderson said. But, the numbers of offshore island workers authorized for planting seed cane have been reduced 20 percent below last year's level by the Department of Labor.

Plantings to date in the vegetable industry indicate that labor demands in the South Florida vegetable area may approximate 1964-65 levels when some 38,000 domestic workers were employed," Anderson said.

He added "The fact that only 32,000 workers were employed in Florida's vegetable industry last year because of crop reduction brought on by fall rains and a mid-winter freeze would suggest that vegetable producers may face the problem of finding an additional 6,000 workers, the same as citrus industry."

The labor expert said vegetable producers suffered severe crop losses last season during April, May, and June when bumper crops, "bunched up because of replanting" following the freeze of Jan. 30, reached maturity almost simultaneously in all producing areas.

Last year, Anderson said, 665 foreign workers were allowed to work in the citrus industry over a period of three weeks following the January freeze. Vegetable producers need no foreign labor relief during the season.

Dickinson Gives Report On Finances

TALLHASSEE — State Comptroller Fred O. (Bud) Dickinson, Jr., has summarized his report of state finances for the 1965-66 fiscal year, noting a record $2,174,373,026 in total balance and receipts.

Total receipts reached the $2,020,978,052 mark and the balance as of July 1, 1965, totaled $153,394,974. Total expenditures for the year were $2,011,881,250. This left a balance in the state treasury of $162,491,776 as of June 30, 1966.

Dickinson noted that his report, in the form of a pamphlet entitled "Your Money and Where it Goes," is now ready for distribution to all interested persons.

A breakdown of this year's balance indicated that $54,437,688 of the total sum represented funds credited to the state's operating account in the General Revenue Fund. In addition, the par value of investments on hand was $801,864,180. This sum consists of various types of securities which earned over $22,800,000 in interest for the year.

Motor vehicles licenses, beverage taxes and cigarette taxes raised an additional $219,788,933. Other fees, licenses and taxes amounted to $239,193,880, Dickinson noted.

Aids to donations totaled $282,537,403, with the major portion coming from the federal government. Miscellaneous revenues produced $59,252,772 and contributions by employees into various retirement systems another $73,652,315.

Non-recurring receipts, such as sale of revenue certificates, brought in $319,244,401. And refunds and transfers added $361,566,889 for the record total in receipts of over $2 billion, pointed-out the Comptroller.

A breakdown of the total disbursements for the year indicated the following major expenditures: Health — $69,953,531; Education (excluding county schools) — $168,632,725; Welfare — $155,539,011; Highways — $276,456,024; Operating Expenses — $830,000,000.

County schools received $266,273,172 in Minimum Foundation Program funds. Other distributions to counties amounted to $118,295,572. Aids to cities and towns accounted for $41,200,000 which was composed mainly of cigarette tax revenue, Dickinson added.

In addition, expenditures for debt service totaled $51,943,871; investments — $192,278,237; payments to U. S. Treasurer — $101,341,330; and inter-fund transfers and refunds — $410,039,000.

Eastern Airlines has received a $100 million credit agreement to finance new jet aircraft with a group of institutional investors.

Machines Replacement In Fields Being Sought, FFVA Told

Replacement of human labor with machines in Florida's vegetable fields and citrus groves is being sought at an accelerated pace persons attending the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association convention in Miami, Beach were told last week by mechanization specialists.

But, while a horde of machines, mainly farm-built, are invading the vegetable industry, creation of a single machine adaptable to all citrus groves still continues to be elusive.

"Harvesting still is the (citrus) industry's number one problem area," said G. E. Coppock, associate agricultural engineer at the Citrus Experiment Station, Lake Alfred. He emphasized that citrus harvesting machines are under development by machinery companies and private inventors which would remove fruit either by spinning, stripping, or shaking the fruit off the trees.

Complete mechanization of the vegetable industry may cause great change in the vegetable industry, reported Mason E. Marvel, associate vegetable crops specialist at the Agricultural Extension Service, Gainesville. He said an increase in acreage encouraged by mechanical developments in major crops is in some instances increasing even more the need for labor to produce those crops.

Many vegetable crops not readily adaptable to mechanization may gradually be phased out while for other crops machinery will make their production feasible once again. Marvel said "We here in Florida have mechanized many vegetable crops and increased our acreage and production, over the years, yet there are other crops that we did not mechanize and have all but quit growing. This trend will continue and in some cases will reverse, I am sure."

Marvel said a modified peanut combine which will pick lima beans with ease has generated a renewed interest in lima beans which had almost been phased out in Florida. He said peas were reduced drastically in acreage in the state because picking them was a problem. Now there are at least two machines that will pick peas from the vines in the field, meaning interest in this crop also will likely be renewed.

Coppock revealed that while picking aids have improved harvesting efficiency in the groves, "It has been difficult to justify picking aids from an economic standpoint." He said a man still is required to pick the fruit and the possibility of increase in his productivity is small, about a 30 percent increase.

All-Time High Of $171,211 Raised For Cancer Crusade In County

The American Cancer Society of Palm Beach County has announced that an all-time high of $171,211.04 was raised during the county-wide annual April Cancer Crusade.

Jon Moyle and Raymond Royce, local attorneys, co-chairmen for the county-wide Crusade, expressed their deep appreciation to the residents of the county for the contributions received.

"We are thrilled that once again we have a 'quota topper,'" Moyle said. "The many hundreds of men and women who participated in the Crusade certainly deserve the congratulations and praise of the Palm Beach County Unit of the American Cancer Society for a job well done."

"A great percentage of the monies contributed will go toward the American Cancer Society services here in Palm Beach County," Royce declared.

"The Cancer Society operates a tumor clinic at St. Mary's Hospital, a loan closet at the cancer headquarters in West Palm Beach, a complete information service on cancer, and many, many other services all designed to help prevent Palm Beach County residents from being stricken with the dread disease of cancer," asserted Royce.

Last year the annual drive totaled just over $170,000. Palm Beach County in 1965 was third in funds raised by
